

Viroguard professional disinfection services are conducted by highly trained professionals familiar with the unique challenges of delivering protocol-driven services utilizing only Health Canada approved disinfecting products. We are licensed and insured for the handling of specialized equipment and products that meet health care standards. This group is led by individuals that have decades of site-specific experience in the area of eradication of many and varying viral and bacteria-based pathogens.

■ What's the difference

Don't be fooled into believing that all services are the same. You wouldn't trust your car to your dentist, don't trust the eradication of potentially life threatening viruses to a cleaning company or a pest control company.

It's important to note that some respiratory viruses can last up to 28 days on a surface depending on environmental conditions. This may not be your case, but do you want to take that chance?

Cleaning companies may not have the expertise to fully disinfect your building space. Are their chemicals certified to kill virus pathogens? How thorough are the people doing the work? Are they following proven protocols? Are they doing the underside of surfaces, behind counters, on the walls or even the little cracks between the keys on keyboards or light switches? Wiping down surfaces just isn't enough. What about soft surfaces? Do they understand the difference between simple fogging and ultra low volume treatments? The use of appropriate equipment is imperative!

■ Why should you care?

The reality is that COVID-19 is a particularly hardy virus that spreads quickly and has a particularly long surface life span. Once a person is infected, the severity of the resulting illness can be fatal. If that isn't enough, consider the following:

Your space has been virtually vacant for weeks. Tenants, customers and/or employees want to come back but they really need to know that they're safe. Don't give them a reason not to get on with doing business. Instead, promote the fact that you used a professional service that certifies its work.

■ Benefits

Everyone has been affected by this pandemic. When life returns to normal, do you want to be an enabler or a barrier to the people that rely on you to keep them safe. By using a service like Viroguard, you are telling them that it's absolutely safe to come back to work. Without the added stress of worrying about the health of their work environment, people can start to focus on getting back to business... and isn't that what we all need?!

■ Viroguard... Service with a Difference

Viroguard is dedicated to providing the very best in disinfection services. There is a distinctive difference between cleaning and disinfecting... differences that should not be ignored.

■ Experienced Professionals

For over 30 years, the people behind Viroguard have been leaders in facility maintenance and wellness. Their collective experience makes them uniquely qualified to customize a disinfection program specifically tailored to meet your needs.

■ Proven Protocols

Unless proven and approved procedures are formalized, documented and followed, you can't ensure that the service is going to be effective. Viroguard is protocol driven, requiring us to follow specific processes and the use of approved products. Our service specialists are trained to follow these written service procedures. All of the products we use in our service delivery are Health Canada approved for the eradication of viral pathogens.

■ Program Flexibility

Viroguard understands that every business and facility is unique and as such our programs are tailored to each customer. From a one-off treatment to regularly scheduled programs, we will create a solution that meets your specific needs.
